

A poem for my Love 04102014 the days move on, but my love remains the same time passes, and I yet wait for the Lords manifestation of my requests he knows the desires of my, for my love, for my family he knows the pain, the longing, agony I've enduring, while being apart he has heard my plea, and has imparted his Grace towards me he has restored my family he has brought it to pass my love is yielding to his beckoning my love is begging to love me again my love is surrendering to him my love is returning to me my love wants my love my love wants to open heart to me my love wants to be loved by me thank you Lord
